Network in Aging's 30th Annual Meeting Thursday, November 4, 2010 Samuels Grande Manor - 8750 Main St., Williamsville, NY

The Network in Aging of WNY, Inc. will hold its 30th Annual Meeting and Conference on Thursday, November 4, 2010 at Samuels Grande Manor, 8750 Main St., Williamsville, NY. This will be the first of many special events the Network will host in celebration of 30 years of service helping professionals in the field of aging and long term care help older adults.

The Network in Aging is excited to announce this year's keynote speaker - Fred Schafer - who will present "High Performance Aging in a High Demand World".

Mr. Schafer is known across America for his dynamic, thought provoking and humorous speaking style. He specializes in moving others to Perform Better, Live Stronger and Dream Bigger. He is rapidly becoming nationally recognized as a thought leader with an uncanny ability to reach the minds, hearts, spirit and funny bones of his audience.

Mr. Schafer will provide attendees of the conference with information that can help them become energized to perform better in both their personal and professional lives. Participants will also discover tools needed to help them more effectively operate their organizations and programs. Some samples of testimonials on his presentations include:

"My FAVORITE speaker in the entire conference. His session helped me more than any other motivational speaker EVER! Bring him back - he's key to this conference.

"He was a powerful speaker who motivated me to make changes"; Fred, I had numerous emails thanking us for bringing you to the program. You were just what the Doctor ordered."
